OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi

SEPTEMBER 1999

SEPTEMBER HAPPENINGS

The September meeting of the Hancock County Historical Society will be held at noon on Thursday, September 9 at the Kate Loblano House, 108 Cue Street, Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi. Please note that our meeting is unusually early this month because of a scheduling conflict, so please make your reservation immediately.

Our guest speaker will be Russell Barns who has done extensive research on boat-building on the Gulf Coast. He has an enormous collection of photographs and documentation of schooners that sailed our waters during the last three hundred years.

Call 467-4090 for reservations at $6.00. Since Monday is Labor Day and delivery of your newsletter may be delayed, please call immediately so we can plan the food and seating.

J. B. LEMOYNE IN THE PARK

After 300 years, Jean Baptiste LeMoyne, Sieur de Bienville stands once again on the high bluff at Bay Saint Louis, overlooking the beautiful bay that he explored and named The Bay of Saint Louis.

This issue of The Historian contains a (nearly) complete list of the bricks and plaques purchased to honor the people and families who have lived here during those 300 years.

TERCENTENARY PARK DEDICATED

On Wednesday, August 25th, three hundred years to the day, and perhaps even to the hour of his arrival to explore the Bay of Saint Louis, Jean Baptiste LeMoyne, Sieur de Bienville was honored by the unveiling of a statue in his likeness.

The city of Bay Saint Louis, The Hancock Bank and the Hancock County Historical Society sponsored the event. They had commissioned Mary Ott Davidson to sculpture the statue, as well as replicas of Le Marin and La Badine, the ships that brought Bienville and his brother, Iberville to the Gulf Coast.

She also cast a bronze crest for the entrance to the park which depicts Bienville, the eight flags that have flown over the area, an oak tree, the bay and its bluff, the Mississippi Magnolia, as well as the founding date (1699), the Shieldsboro period (1802-1875) and the city motto "A Place Apart". Along with the American flag, the fleur-de-lis of 1699 flies over the park day and night.

Searing temperatures did not decrease the enthusiasm of the huge crowd that attended the ceremony. The Bay High Ensemble conducted a flawless presentation of the colors and the National Anthem.

Prima Plauché, Director of the Hancock County Library System, was Mistress of Ceremony. She welcomed distinguished visitors and introduced the speakers, Leo Seal, CEO of Hancock Bank, Charles Gray, President of the Hancock County Historical Society and Edward Favre, mayor of Bay Saint Louis. These gentlemen, mercifully, made brief but brilliant speeches.

At the close of his address, Mr. Seal presented Mayor Favre with a framed deed to the park which is located immediately next to Hancock Bank, the company's flagship office.

After viewing the park with its more than 400 etched bricks and nearly 60 plaques, guests were invited to the Kate Loblano House for champagne and hors d'oeuvre.

IN APPRECIATION

The Historical Society is grateful to all who worked to make the Tercentenary celebration a success. Among those who volunteered at the Loblano House were:

Reception workers – Marlene Johnson, Marine Collins, Meg Hilliker, Alice Holmes, Melinda Richard, Evie Gordon, JoAnn Mumme George, Dorothea Martin, Ruth Good, Mary Bowers, Inez Abbott, Joyce Schexnayder, Roland Schexnayder, Brehm Bell, Bill Flores, Cathy Benvenuti, Ames Kergosien, Richard Johnson, Rick George, Rebecca Beckmeyer, and Ray and June Murphy for the flower beds. Others whom we have missed, please forgive us for the oversight.

Food Donations — Rebecca Beckmeyer, Sally Lindsley, Rosemary Ramelli, Clarice Gustin, Marine Collins, Alice Holmes, Evie Gordon, Patty Hammarstrom, Del York, Peggy Eagan, Alice Perrier, Meg Hilliker, Janet Dudding, Mary Lee Lagarde, Betty Burnett, Kay Kistler and many others whose names were not on their donations.

Those who contributed to the construction of the park will be listed in the park brochure that will be printed after the park is completed.
